

Homework - 8/17

Advanced Eng. A1

Ms. Martocello

Recap

Today's class was an introduction to the year and an explanation of the expectations of this class. As a reminder:

- Be respectful of classmates, teachers, and property.
- Be kind, polite, and courteous to others.
- Keep your hands and feet to yourself.
- Students are expected to show up for class prepared to learn - notebook, folder, and writing utensils included. Chromebooks are allowed as long as you use them responsibly.

- No headphones, phones, or other electronics unless otherwise approved.
- Water or other covered drinks are allowed - food is not permitted due to potential allergies.

Completing homework on time earns you tickets - Once you earn 5 tickets, you may choose from a bin of assorted prizes. Opportunities for bonus tickets will be available throughout the year.

Homework is assigned weekly with few exceptions. and is super important—definitely not optional! Students should try their best to tackle all of the questions/readings/worksheets. It's okay if you can't complete them all; an incomplete solution is better than nothing. Homework helps us see how well you're understanding the material.

There are 3 main projects this year; a presentation, a creative writing assignment, and a research paper.
